Letter of recommendation for AP Fachübersetzungen

Being an innovative start-up company, lingoking has been offering language services worldwide for over 60 languages via an online platform since 2011. The lingoking interpreter and translator team currently consists of approx. 1,600 members from more than 40 countries. Lingoking has gained national and international renown for repeatedly winning the IT prize for innovations.

The company AP Fachübersetzungen has been a member of our interpreting team since April 2018. We would like to express our special thanks to this company for their outstanding interpreting services at a wedding ceremony and multiple company meetings of a large supermarket chain. The employees of AP Fachübersetzungen interpreted consecutively from German to English or Polish and proved an in-depth specialised knowledge as well as a high level of professionalism. The cooperation with AP Fachübersetzungen has always been smooth, the communication has been uncomplicated and the interpreters have always been on time. We – as well as our customers – have been highly satisfied with their performance.

We would like to thank this company for the impeccable, reliable and trustful cooperation and are looking forward to our next projects together. We recommend them as a language service provider for the language combinations German-English and German-Polish and wish their employees all the best.

Yours sincerely,

Emese Simon
